Libyan International Medical University
Faculty of Business Administration

The Benefits of IT in Business

Presenter : Shahed Elhasia
Student ID: 2186
E-mail: shahed_2186@limu.edu.ly

Contents

Introduction

IT systems businesses have been able to transform small businesses to international household names.

In order to keep up with competition, companies are increasingly turning it to boost performance.
As such, IT has become an essential feature in the business.

The benefits of IT in Business

1. Streamline Communication

- Efficient communication is critical to company success. In an increasingly connected and dispersed business employees requires ongoing communication and collaboration.

- IT allows organizations to connect almost effortlessly with international suppliers and consumers.
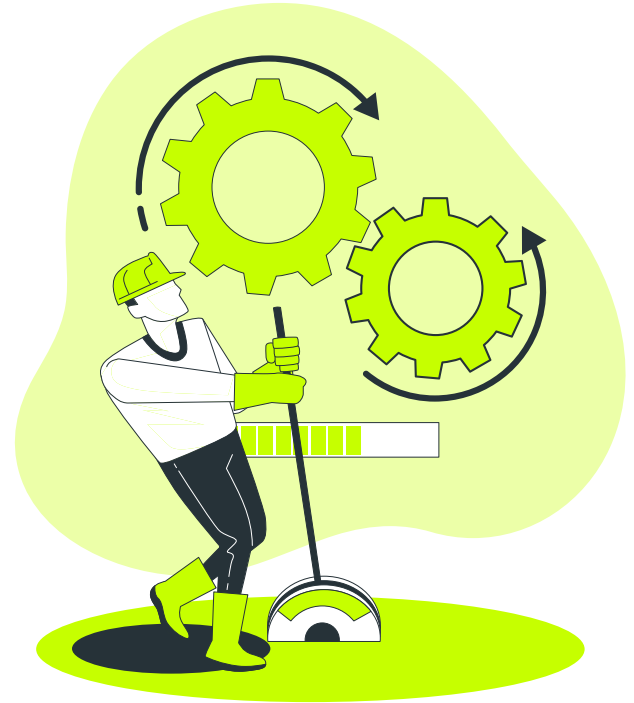

2. Facilities Strategic Thinking

- IT has enabled companies the ability to assemble, interpret and transfer information like never before.

- This has given businesses unparalleled access to customers and consumers, enabling organizations to deliver new and enhanced products.
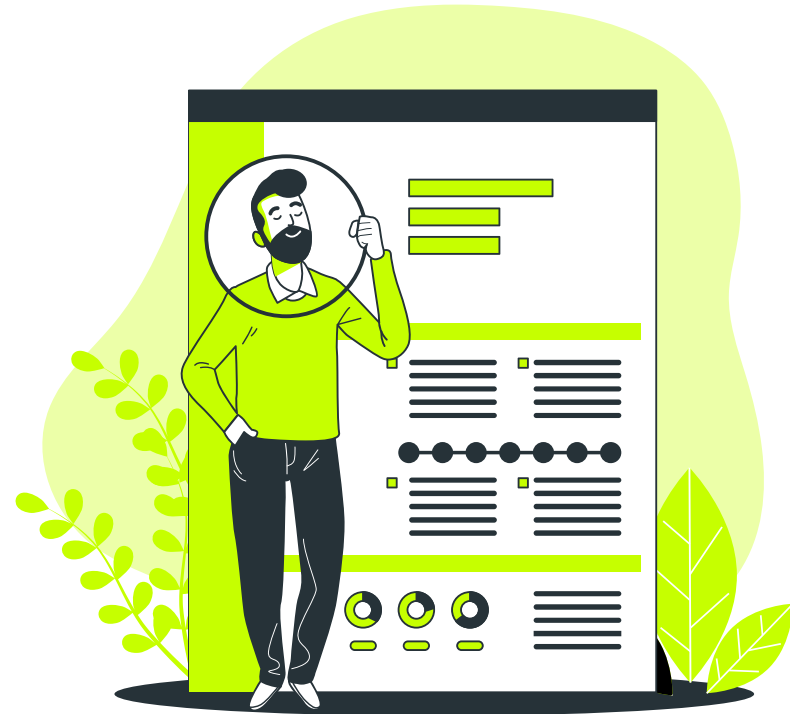

3.Stores &Safeguards Valuable Information

- IT affords companies the ability to store, share, and backup files for later use,
- protects information from unauthorized individuals.

- As a result, IT gives businesses the peace of mind that the information they collect and analyze can be properly stored and safeguarded for future use.

4. Cuts Cost and Eliminates Waste

- The implementation of online training programs is a classic example of IT improving an organization's internal processes by reducing costs and employee time spent outside of work.

- In effect, IT enables companies to do more with less, without sacrificing quality or value.

Conclusion

In short, There are many benefits from IT to improve business, and organizations should use them to their advantage and get their business running even more smoothly.

References :

Digicult, R. (2018, January 19). The Benefits Technology Brings To Your Business • Retrieved from http://digicult.it/digimag/benefits-technology-brings-business/

Thank You

Any Question ?